Serious business bloggers put more effort into their craft and are logging longer hours.

"There is no such thing as a successful blog now. There are only successful blog posts."
~ Jay Baer

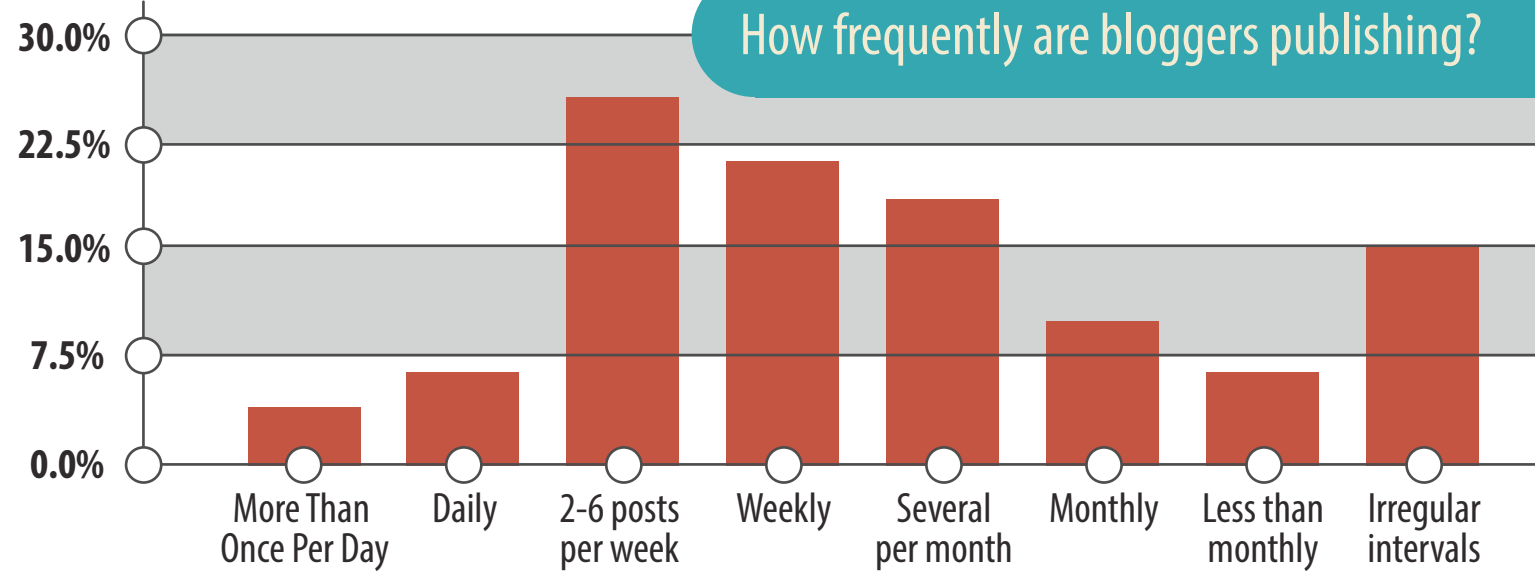

knock-out blog posts in an hour or two.
Will they achieve their goals?

Content Marketers Care About Calendars

Weekly (or more) wins for frequency. Business blogging frequency varies widely, but most publish at regular intervals. The number of bloggers publishing daily (or more) has risen.

Note: Daily bloggers report spending less time on their posts.

Let Us Count the Words

Blog posts of 1,500+ words have increased by 72%

Going long. Far more bloggers now pen lengthier posts.

How long is your typical blog post?

- Shorties: Less than 20% produce posts of less than 500 words (which is lower than last year).
- The sweet spot: The 500 - 1000 range remains the most popular length (though it's declined).
- Long: Posts of 1000 - 1500 are words have increased.
- Longer: The trend holds steady in the 1500 - 2000 word range.
- Longest: About 2x as many bloggers now write posts upwards of 2000 words.

What's New in Business Blogging?

The data indicates blogging's growing up and bloggers are stepping it up. Survey result comparisons from the past two years reflect an increase across the board in:

- Length of the average post
- Working on blogging during office hours
- Time spent per post
- Posts created for clients
